

Letter from the Board Chair

Janus, the Roman god for whom this month is named, was the god of beginnings and transitions. This entire year promises to be a period of beginnings and transitions: a new resident at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue, yet to be determined, and new occupants at 4801 Massachusetts Avenue: namely, us.

We start the new year on a high note, the announcement of a second million-dollar grant from the Bernard Osher Foundation. We are grateful for this acknowledgement of our OLLI's past performance, of our members' commitment and devotion, and of the promise of a secure and illustrious future.

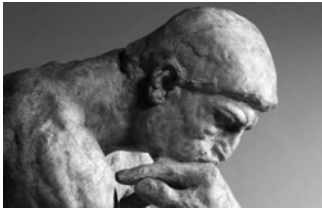

Now it's time to consider our abundant choices for the months ahead: participation in the February Shorts, registration for the Spring semester, and attendance at our many fine open lectures.

Janus may look back as well as forward, but at OLLI, although we're proud of all we've accomplished, our eyes are fixed firmly on the future.

Letter from the Board Chair

Congratulations! We made it through The Blizzard of 2016!

Now all the white stuff has melted, the streets are cleared, and transportation is back to normal (or what passes for normal in our nation's capital.) What remains is the warm memory of neighbors looking out for neighbors, of young people shoveling paths for those who couldn't, of an old-time, small-town feeling under all that beautiful, treacherous snow.

Now it's time to turn our thoughts to spring. Long before Daylight Saving Time begins, you'll be notified of your course schedule for the new semester that starts on February 29th. (Yes, this is a leap year.) In addition to wonderful classes to engage your mind, there are weekly lectures, trips, and special events. You will be invited to attend another gala musical event in May.

OLLI has so much to offer, most of which is included in your membership fee. We urge you to mark your calendar as these events are announced, and take advantage of the full OLLI experience.

Letter from the Board Chair

So much has been written about the benefits, physical and psychological, of keeping one's mind active and engaged as we grow older. We have only to look around us, in our new OLLI classes, to verify the truth of that premise. Observe your classmates as they participate in discussions, or simply listen with pleasure to your leaders and colleagues, and watch the years drop away. The learning experience is a powerful anti-aging medicine for which you don't need a prescription, just an OLLI membership.

Bernard Osher certainly was on to something of great benefit to society when he underwrote what has grown into a nationwide network of 119 institutions for lifelong learning. We are proud to be one of them.

Bunch

The Mystery Lunch Bunch will have its first meeting on Wednesday, March 9, from 12:00-12:45pm at the Greek Orthodox Church to discuss Louise Penny's The Nature of the Beast. (We understand that you may arrive a bit late and/or need to head out a bit early for your morning or afternoon classes elsewhere.) So bring your lunch and come ready to discuss Penny's latest work.

Other meetings will include:

- March 23: Death of An Englishman by Magdalen Nabb
- April 6: The Crossing by Michael Connelly
- April 20: The Last Detective by Peter Lovesey
- May 4: We'll leave this date open.
- Possible 5th book: possible presentations on favorite books, authors, and characters; possible book swap. We'll see what the group decides.

Be sure to RSVP to susangreif@gmail.com so we'll make sure there is enough seating for all.

Never mind Bernie, Hillary, Ted and Donald: we have an election of our own coming up soon.

We'll be voting for four members to serve three-year terms on our Board of Directors. The nominees include three current Board members who are eligible for re-election, and three candidates selected from the general membership by the Nominating Committee. The complete slate is shown below, and will make brief statements at our Annual Meeting on Tuesday, April 12, at 12:15, downstairs at the Temple Baptist Church.

We urge you to exercise your privilege as an OLLI member, and make your four choices known. You can vote online (highly recommended) on our election site (different from the OLLI website) or cast a chad-free paper ballot.

If interested, please call 202-361-3067 and tell them you are an OLLI member for a discounted admission.

Directors members are upon us. The Nominations and Elections Committee has developed their slate. OLLI By-laws also indicate that members may nominate themselves or others by obtaining 20 active members to sign a petition and return it to the OLLI office. We are running slightly behind so petitions must be at our office by this Friday, April 8. Along with the petition, please include a 150-word bio and a passport-sized photo. We will compile the final list of candidates and email it to all members as well as post it to our website by next Monday, April 11. At our Annual Meeting at 12:15 pm on Tuesday, April 12, all candidates are given a few minutes to introduce themselves. On-line voting will begin that afternoon and be open for two weeks, closing on April 26.

Letter from the Board Chair

I've had lots of time, the last two weeks, to consider the joy of mobility and independence which so many of us experience well into advanced age. Knee replacement surgery, hospitalization, and rehabilitation have given me a new perspective. How trite but how true: the abilities we've taken for granted since childhood become more precious with compromise.

I think of my classmates at OLLI, and marvel at their resilience and love of learning. What an astonishing group of people we are. Some of us are challenged with problems of sight, some have difficulty hearing, some cannot walk without help, some have medical conditions that surgery cannot cure, but we all come to class, we keep on keeping on, eager to enrich our lives.

This is my final column as Chair of OLLI's Board of Directors. It's been a challenge and a privilege to serve this particular constituency of remarkable men and women. My thanks to all of you for all you've taught me.

Letter from the Board Chair

As your new Chair, I am delighted and privileged to announce that we have signed the 4801 Massachusetts lease with American University! Not since The Institute for Learning in Retirement became the Osher Lifelong Learning Institute has there been a more momentous event in OLLI's history. We owe a big thanks to my wonderful predecessor, Gloria Kreisman, our excellent Executive Director, Anne Wallace, and our great lawyers, Ray Rasenberger and Bruce Wolff, all of whom worked so hard to secure OLLI's new home.

With our new venue we will enhance our sense of community and accomplish even more than we already have. And what we have accomplished in the past year is extremely impressive.

In the 2015-16 year, we increased our membership to 1228 members including 295 new members. With the outstanding efforts of Naomi Heller and the Curriculum Committee, we had 178 Study Groups and, under the amazing leadership of Denise Leibowitz and her committee, four outstanding lecture series. Barbara Rollinson, our Social Committee chair, organized two very successful new member breakfasts, two Open Houses, and our holiday party.

On May 20, we held a fabulous fundraiser with the Dick Budson Jazz Sextet, with thanks to Sue Rolnick, Mickey Klein, Anne Wallace and her staff,

I hope everyone has had a happy and healthy summer and joins me in looking forward to our first semester at 4801 Massachusetts Ave. NW. We have had a great response to the course offerings this semester including 181 new member registrations.

We will be holding three Open Houses before classes begin on September 26. See the Open House Schedule at left. Staff and volunteers will be on hand to give tours of our new and wonderful space and to answer any questions. The first week of classes we also will have Board members greeting everyone and facilitating to insure a smooth transition to our new space.

There is a free AU shuttle which runs from the Katzen Center to 4801, which is now called the Spring Valley Building. Predicting the Next President: The Keys to the White House 2016

Forget the polls. Dismiss the pundits. Ignore the campaign news cycle. Professor Allan J. Lichtman has developed a system for predicting the behavior of American voters that is so accurate he has successfully predicted the outcome of every presidential election since 1984. Spurning the usual approach of demographics, analytics, and polling, Lichtman believes the American electorate to be smarter and more pragmatic than it is often given credit for and will reward the political party that serves it well and punish those that fail. His thirteen keys are true/false statements that he says indicate whether the incumbent party will be able to hold onto the White House. Will he continue his winning streak in the 2016 election?

Allan J. Lichtman is Distinguished Professor of History at American University and the author or co-author of nine books and more than 100 articles. He has testified as an expert witness on civil rights in more than 90 cases and regularly provides media commentary and analysis. His 2013 book FDR and the Jews won the National Jewish Book Award. "Predicting the Next President: The Keys to the White House 2016" updates the forecasting system Professor Lichtman initially developed in 1981 with Russian mathematician Vladimir Kellis-Borok.

There are NO CLASSES next Wed., Oct. 12,

Letter from the Chair

Congratulations to all! The first week in our new home, the Spring Valley Building, was a great success. I was delighted to hear from many members how much they enjoyed being in the new building. It would not have been so successful if it were not for the heroic efforts of our wonderful Executive Director Anne Wallace and the OLLI staff: Tony Long, Mary Fran Miklitsch, Susan Kalil, and Jade Carter-Smalley, and our temp. Delante Jackson. Board members were also wonderful in volunteering every day to help folks to find their way to classes and to use the parking kiosks.

Last week, we had 87 study groups and 980 members in the building. We were joined by 207 new members. Please make a special effort to welcome them.

We were all relieved to find ample parking, especially on C3 (the lowest level of the garage). I thank all of you for being so patient in learning how to use the parking kiosks. It appears nobody received an AU ticket for overstaying their paid time. Also thank you for complying with the Good Neighbor Policy.

We did notice that the social spaces on the fifth floor are underused. There is free coffee and lots of room. We hope that more folks, particularly those who have classes on the first floor, will come and greet their fellow members.

The week ended with a bang: Professor Allan because of Yom Kippur.

Carpooling

If you are interested in carpooling to OLLI study groups with other members, sign the sheets in the social space nearest to the OLLI office.

Materials Needed

The collage class welcomes any materials you no longer need which could be used in their artwork. Examples include magazines, old jewelry, interesting fabric scraps, and found objects with interesting shapes.

New Book by OLLI SGL Peter Wolfe

Alexander Hamilton, the first Secretary of the Treasury, was primarily responsible for the establishment of a financial system which led to the growth and stability of the American economy. This book, based in large part on Hamilton's writings, follows the development of his Lichtman's lecture on predicting the outcome of the presidential election. The reservation system worked beautifully with over two hundred people making reservations online. Remember, all remaining lectures in the Fall series will be held in room 101 at the Spring Valley Building.

I look forward to seeing everyone at the OLLI Town Hall on October 28 at 1:30pm in SVB room 101.

OLLI members tend to be avid readers. We've asked a random group, "What did you read over the summer?" Here are some of the replies (which have been edited for length and clarity). More in future newsletters.

Marty Nemirow: Age of Ambition, by Evan Osnos. a National Book Award winner. It is in-depth nonfiction reporting on colorful and controversial people who have both defied Chinese repression of human rights, but also have benefited often from huge corruption from its new economic freedoms. Osnos asks why western political freedoms have not accompanied freer markets. Businessmen, intellectuals, financial thinking and describes how he fought for the implementation of that system before he became Secretary of the Treasury.

and bureaucrats of one regime are punished by succeeding regimes. The author spent years on China taking risks by befriending the main controversial characters.

Cindy Lisec: I moved this summer and while I was unpacking I listened to several of the books from the amusing cozy Fethering mystery series by Simon Brett. Body on the Beach introduces the retirees Carole and Jude, who are neighbors and opposites in personality and experience. Mary Beard's readable SPQR explores the growth of Rome from 63 BCE to 212 CE. She identifies why Rome grew and what bound together its citizens.

The Year of Lear (1606), by James Shapiro, links the social, political and cultural events, especially the Gunpowder Plot, to show how they may have influenced Shakespeare while he wrote King Lear, Antony and Cleopatra, and Macbeth.

Sy Efros: My favorites were: World of Yesterday, by Stefan Zweig; Citizens of London, by Lynn Olson, and Dead Wake, by Erik Larson. Zweig's pictures of pre-Nazi Vienna and Paris are riveting. He met a tragic end. Olson's description of the broadcaster Edward R. Murrow, US Ambassador John Gilbert Winant, and Averell Harriman (who was in London to direct our Lend-Lease program) are vivid. She also describes the Churchill family and Roosevelt so as to make them true-to-life figures. Finally, Larson's Dead Wake is a good picture of WWI and the events that led us into that war.

Letter from the Chair

After five weeks, we are settling into our new home. We now know where our classrooms are and, from the comments I have received, members are pleased with the rooms including the chairs, tables, and tech equipment. However, as several members at our Fall Town Meeting pointed out, we are not fully using our fifth floor social space.

To encourage folks to gather in the social space, we are instituting a once-a-week "Coffee Break" between classes. In addition to free coffee, we will have cookies and snacks once a week. The first "Coffee Break" will be next Monday, Nov. 7, at 11:15 am. I look forward to seeing you there.

As I mentioned at the Town Hall, you will be receiving a membership questionnaire shortly. This is the first time in many years our OLLI has surveyed the membership. We are using Survey Monkey because it is extremely easy to use, and, more importantly, responses are totally anonymous. Nobody, not even Survey Monkey staff, can find out who is responding. So, please answer the questions. We have limited questions to those that might result in responses useful to our Planning Committee and other committees as they work on short- and long-term plans. Although we hope that you will answer all questions, each question is optional.

Not surprisingly, parking was discussed at the Town Hall. Generally, parking has worked well with members finding space and with fewer problems using kiosks for payment. However, at least two members have received an AU $200 parking ticket for violating the Good Neighbor Policy by parking on the street. Unfortunately the office cannot help in that situation. And one member received an AU $50 parking ticket for allegedly overstaying their paid time in the garage. Luckily, the member had the receipt which showed the member did not stay too long. We contacted AU and AU voided the ticket. We don't think this will happen very often but please keep your receipt.

We will be holding our Holiday Party in mid-December. More details will be sent via email. The holiday party is always a joyous affair and I hope that all of you come and celebrate.

All the best,
Stan Newman

What OLLI Members Are Reading: Part 2

OLLI members tend to be avid readers. We've asked a random group, "What did you read over the summer?" Here are some of the replies (which have been edited for length and clarity). More in future newsletters.

Joy Mara: I tend to read mostly literary fiction, with recent titles including: The Last Painting of Sara DeVos, Dominic Smith; Seeing Calvin Coolidge in a Dream, John Derbyshire; Capital, John Lancaster; and Roscoe, William Kennedy. I also read a couple of non-fiction books: The German War, Nicholas Stargardt; and Tsukiji: The Fish Market at the Center of the World, Theodore Bester. In addition, I try to read some French each day, including Les Vingt Ans du Jeune Homme Vert, Michel Deon; and Les Goldmans de Baltimore, Joel Dicker. I did some light reading, such as Love in Scotland Street, Alexander McCall Smith; Even Dogs in the Wild, Ian Rankin; and Cometh the Hour, Jeffrey Archer.

Joe Gerber: The Monuments Men, by Robert Edsel (I enjoyed it very much, and recommend it); Rogue Lawyer, by John Grisham (Lots of humor, but truthfully, I thought it was a waste of time. I've read other Grisham novels and thought they were much better); and Michelangelo and the Pope's Ceiling, by Ross King (Michelangelo was without doubt a genius; recommended for art lovers as well as history buffs).

Patricia Bell: I had a great reading summer, mostly fiction with a mystery and biography thrown in for good measure: Falling in Love by Donna Leon, her latest Brunetti mystery; an older Joyce Carol Oates, You Must Remember This; a recent Elizabeth Strout, My Name is Lucy Barton; a biography to recommend: Hissing Cousins: The Lifelong Rivalry of Eleanor Roosevelt and Alice Roosevelt Longworth by Marc Peyser and Timothy Dwyer. And two other fiction: King of Cuba by Cristina Garcia and The Hummingbird by Stephen P. Kiernan.

Letter from the Chair

2016 is the historic year that OLLI at AU moved to our new home and we can all be grateful that we made the transition so effectively. Many thanks to Anne, Tony, Mary Fran, Susan and Jade for their hard work, cheerfulness and patience.

From all accounts, classes and lectures were extremely well received. The concerns we had about the use of the fifth floor social space have been lessened as more and more members became aware of the space. Jeanne Kent, our hospitality chair arranged “coffee breaks” every week on a different day. They were a great help in increasing awareness to members of our social space. Next year we will continue our once a week “coffee breaks.” Bob Hausman suggested that we add a once a week “lunch break” between morning and afternoon classes with coffee and lemonade, which we will do.

Next year is the 35th anniversary of the founding of OLLI. We will be celebrating all year long with great lectures thanks to Denise Liebowitz and her lecture committee starting January 10th. A wonderful series of short courses February 6-10th and the beginning of a new semester March 6th. We are beginning to plan a gala event in late spring to commemorate our 35th year.

We are also beginning to plan for summer activities now that we have a year round facility. Thanks to all who filled out the questionnaire, we had a very good response with 405 replies. A summary of the responses will soon be on the OLLI website. The replies will be very helpful in our program planning.

I also want to thank everyone who has already responded to my end of the year fundraising letter and all those who will respond by the end of the year.

It is my pleasure to announce that the Board of Directors has approved Anne Wallace's recommendation that Tony Long be named Deputy Executive Director of OLLI. Congratulations to Tony for a well-deserved promotion.

I look forward to seeing you at the OLLI holiday party on December 15th from 4-6pm at the Unitarian Universalist Church on River Road. The party will be held in Fellowship Hall. Alan Frey has graciously agreed to play the piano for the event. Happy Holidays to everyone!

All the best,
Stan Newman

2016 Civil War Trip

On November 9, OLLI members joined Civil War SGL Chris Bradley and expert Ed Bearss for a tour of John Wilkes Booth's escape route through the District and Maryland.

What OLLI Members Are Reading: Part 3

OLLI members tend to be avid readers. We've asked a random group, "What did you read over the summer?" Here are some of the replies (which have been edited for length and clarity). More in future newsletters.

Larry Walders: I read Everybody's Fool by Richard Russo. It follows his best seller Nobody's Fool.

Both are set on a depressed area of upstate New York with a cast of bizarre characters who go through episodes of hilarious and semi-tragic experiences. The writing is entertaining and also provides insights into small-town life.

Dorothy Wexler: I did a mishmash of reading this summer. I started with a book I've been longing to get to: Leningrad, Siege and Symphony by Brian Moynahan, a long book focused on Shostakovich composing his Seventh Symphony during the siege of Leningrad, following up with the new novel by Julian Barnes, The Noise of Time, also about Shostakovich. The Barnes was a present as were a couple of other books I read: A Thousand Miles to Freedom, by Eunsun Kim about her escape from North Korea and Memories from Moscow to the Black Sea, by the Russian journalist "Teffi." For book groups I belong to, I read the extraordinary World War I novel by the Irish author Sebastian Barry, A Long Long Way and Disraeli: The Novel Politician by David Cesarini, which examines how "Jewish" Disraeli was. Then for fun: Love in a Cold Climate by Nancy Mitford and Imperium: A Novel of Ancient Rome, by the incomparable Robert Harris (in anticipation of the Roman history class which I was lucky to get into).

Robert Adamson: What I read this summer: Andrew Solomon, Far From The Tree; Dara Horn, A Guide For the Perplexed and On All Other Nights; M.L. Stedman, A Light Between the Oceans; Anne Tyler, A Hole to America; Thomas Buergenthal, A Lucky Child, and Dalia Sofer The Septembers of Shiraz.

Peter MacGahan: Flashpoints, by George Friedman, The Garments of the Court and Palace, by Philip Bobbitt, and The Jewish Gospel of John, by Eli Lizorkin-Eyzenberg.

Peter Sherman: I read Waiting, by Ha Jin. Highly recommend this novel set in China during the cultural revolution; The Heart is a Lonely Hunter, by Carson McCullers, a classic well worth reading or rereading, and David Brooks' Road to Character.

Linda Roeder: Between the World and Me, by Ta Nehisi Coates; Wolf Hall, by Hilary Mantel; The Sympathizer, by Viet Thanh Nguyen; Devil in the White City, by Erik Larson; All the Light We Cannot See, by Anthony Doerr; The Secret River, by Kate Grenville; and Euphoria, by Lily King.
