

February Short - Practice in Translating Latin

Dr. Diana Smith

desdian@gmail.com

A three-day course in practicing Latin translations, based on the material learned in the fall semester of “Latin for Curious Beginners.” We will work on translating skills, especially the skill of translating at sight. We will use a variety of texts, both original and textbook. Some of the texts will be deliberately challenging so as to push the students’ confidence in tackling a difficult author.

We will not learn new grammar, but passing knowledge of Wheelock’s Chapter 1-6 is required. A willing spirit and patience round out the requirements.
